

Welcome to the Third PeSeTo Conference on Public Health!

The First PeSeTo Conference on Public Health was held in Seoul in April 2008, hosted by the Graduate School of Public Health, Seoul National University.

The Second Conference was held in November 2009 in Beijing, hosted by the School of Public Health, Peking University.

As the host of the last conference of the first round of academic exchanges among three leading schools of public health, namely, Peking, Seoul, and Tokyo (i.e., PeSeTo), we are very pleased to hold this conference in Tokyo.

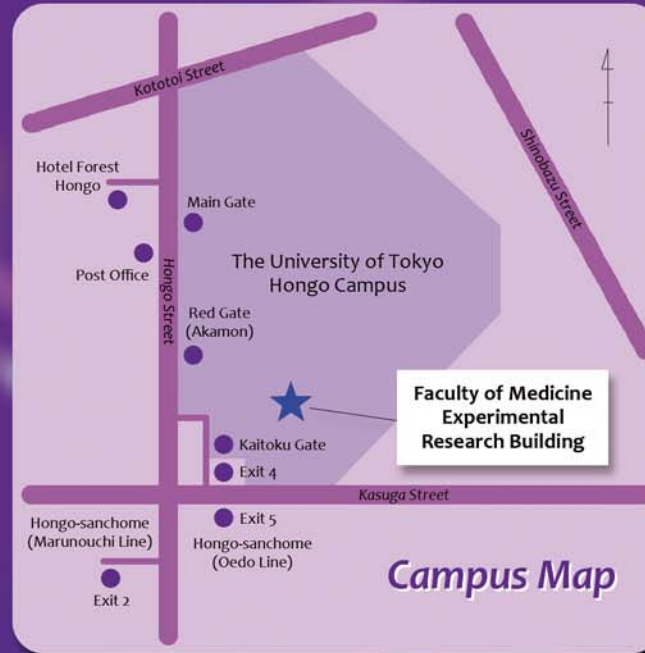

During recent years, global society faces serious and critical health issues, such as rapid aging, environmental pollution, emerging and reemerging infectious diseases, obesity epidemic, social disparities in health, and spiraling health care costs. East Asian countries are no exception to these problems.

We all must tackle these issues together. It is my hope that this conference will serve as an important step for such collaborative work and present a unique opportunity to exchange ideas for improving people's health in East Asian region as well as in each single country.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge all those who have worked in the preparation of this conference.

Thank you all.
